Practical Information

20 - 22 April 2017

Belgrade, Serbia

The conference will begin on Thursday 20 April at 14.00 and end during the evening of Saturday 22 April 2017

Conference registration starts on February 28 and ends on April 10 2017

1. Conference Format

RESEO conferences are open to all organisations and individuals, whether they are members of the network or not. They follow a pattern well known to our long-term members, but which it is always useful to describe to our newer participants: in a conference format lasting 3 days, the participants are invited to reflect upon a topic which is of importance to their work, to discover the local situation of the host organisation, to acquire know-how and training via practical workshops, to learn about and be inspired by the presentation of the work and projects done by their European colleagues, and to acquire additional knowledge via researchers' insights.

a. Practical workshops

The practical workshops proposed during our conferences are short and specific trainings. They allow participants to experience working methods and learn innovative techniques related to the conference's theme. Participants are delivered a certificate of participation upon demand.

In Belgrade, participants will be invited to participate in up to 4 workshops linked with the theme of higher education and the arts. Sessions will be led by expert practitioners from Europe and this year we are excited to invite applications from RESEO members to lead one of the workshops. To apply complete the application form here.

b. Case studies

Concrete examples illustrating the the connection of between higher education and the arts will be presented. We would also welcome applications from RESEO members to take part in a session to highlight their work.
